The Love Synastry App is extremely accurate in giving you important insight into the long-term potential of your relationship, which may not be so obvious in the early stages of dating someone.It can also reveal hidden patterns you may have not noticed even if you have been together with your partner for years.This exact numerology compatibility test method is unique, as it combines a number of ancient techniques, and has been tested on thousands of couples over the course of 25 years.The Love Synastry compatibility test gives very accurate information about the long term potential of any relationship as well as the base compatibility between two people. You should, however, never rule out your own feelings and experiences with the relationship. Even though the Love Synastry app shows extremely accurate love compatibility test results, you and only you know your partner in person. If your partner is showing abusive behavior, is lying, cheating on you, or in any other way hurting your feelings or emotions, you should by no means use the app to excuse their behavior.On the other hand, if you already feel confident that you have found the one, and the love compatibility test results confirm this – you can trust it to re-affirm your own intuition and reasoning about the relationship.Why is this love compatibility calculator better than other similar applications?Nowadays we come across a great number of applications, made for fun, or numerology and astrology calculators that only use one technique to show results, which are either very subjective, or very inaccurate. Our love compatibility calculator is neither of that!The Love Synastry app consists of a number of techniques that have been combined into a method that has been manually tested on a huge number of real-life couples, before being developed into an app. We have created this Love Synastry app with the pure intention to help you truly thrive in your love life! We KNOW the struggle of finding that special partner, who makes us feel truly loved, valued, appreciated, and taken care of, so having discovered this amazing tool, we felt it is our mission to share it with the world!The Love Synastry app is the BEST relationship compatibility test for making sure you don't pass by your soulmate and not notice them!!It is also the BEST shortcut to true love, as it can help you better choose your dates, so that you don't waste time on the wrong ones!Is numerology better than astrology?Since I have a background in both astrology and numerology, I can say that in a way – yes!Numerology can be better in giving you a more accurate result about your compatibility with someone, because it is less subjective. Numbers are numbers, and they give you very straight-forward results.Astrology can surely provide much more in-depth information about the psychological profile of a person as well as predict certain events in their life, however, we have found that astrologers can go very wrong in their compatibility readings. This is because each astrologer interprets the planets' positions through their own prism and through their own experience. The Love Synastry Love Compatibility Test is indeed very straight-forward in giving you the short, clear answers to make the right decision about your love life.How should I use the Love Synastry compatibility test? Click here to go to the app. Enter your birth date and the birth date of your partner.You can also use the Love Synastry app to check compatibility with potential dates from dating sites. Why waste time on dates that are no good for you in the long-run, especially if you are looking to find true love that lasts a lifetime! Skipping the wrong ones altogether gives you a much better chance at finding your soulmate sooner! Follow through the steps. First, the app gives you a very basic love compatibility test result by analyzing your mutual life path number. This first indicator of compatibility is not to be ignored, as 98% of couples, who are not compatible by life path number separate even after years of being together. Pay attention to this very first compatibility indicator, and keep it in mind.Second, the love compatibility app uses special calculations to analyze your long term marriage compatibility results. This is a very important indicator, which provides an extremely accurate analysis of how well you will be able to synchronize your different value systems as a couple.Again, thousands of results from real couples as well as analysis on celebrity couples has shown that if this one indicator is missing, the clash of personalities is likely to ruin the relationship sooner or later. In this part of the analysis, we give you very specific advice on what to do in order to overcome potential drawbacks in this area of your relationship.Third, the Love Synastry Love Compatibility Test uses another special, time-tested formula to calculate how prone each of you is to take on responsibility and commit in the long term, then synchronizes the result to show you how well you will work as a couple. This is another crucial indicator of love compatibility, especially if you are looking to build a family life together and have kids. It is extremely hard to form such a relationship with someone, who is inherently irresponsible and has a deep-rooted fear of commitment.This indicator has again been tested on a great number of individuals to prove its trustworthiness, and is absolutely vital knowledge you need in order to make a decision on whether you need to take it to the next step with someone, or rather move on (especially if you have doubts already, and they have been flaky).Last but not least, the Love Synastry Love Compatibility Test makes a comparison on your and your partner's karmic combinations, which is another important indicator of lifelong happiness.Each of us comes to this Earth with a certain amount of karmic burden and lessons they have to learn. If you and your partner have the very same karmic lessons to learn, then you will start weighing each other down at some point in the relationship, rather than lifting each other up. In this case, you are most likely to have the same weaknesses, same fears, and same demons to fight, which means you do not complement each other harmoniously. On the other hand, if you have relatively different karmic lessons to learn, you will be harmoniously complementing each other, and helping one another, as you will be able to learn from each other, and help each other grow.This last indicator of compatibility should also be paid good attention to, especially if you are looking for a truly exceptional union of Love! Remember, we are not giving you a compatibility in list – that's easy to get – we are helping you find true love!If you are yearning for that special someone, for that soulmate, the love of your life that will keep your heart warm, joyful, excited, but at the same time calm, and truly happy – then it is time to stop guessing and start using the Love Synastry Compatibility Test App!Do you have a friend in your life, who needs this?Share this page with them!!! Good karma never forgets people, who help others out! In the age of technology, dating apps are basically the only way to meet people anymore. But these advanced algorithms leave a lot to be desired when it comes to providing Astro-Babes with truly compatible matches. Some dating apps like Bumble offer the option to include your Sun sign and while it's fun to know, it's not enough to determine astrological compatibility. The truth is you're not going to find your soulmate by asking them about Sun sign or their go-to karaoke song – though it doesn't hurt to know. For those looking for an alternative, a synastry chart offers a deeper look into the stars behind your next relationship. Free synastry chart calculator Before you can create your free synastry chart, you'll need the birth time, date, and location of both you and your partner. Once you have that information you can use this tool from our friends at Astro-Charts to get your free synastry chart: NOTE: The widget provided on this page is a free tool. If you choose to purchase a paid synastry report through the Astro-Charts website; payment is not received through or associated with Lunar and Lilac Astrology. Once you've done that, you should have a bi-wheel chart that shows your synastry chart. It can look intimidating to read at first, so how exactly do you read a synastry chart? How to read a synastry chart A synastry chart overlaps the birth charts of two people and examines the aspects between their two charts to show their dynamic. Visually, a synastry chart is just two individual birth charts that have been overlaid on top of one another. Synastry charts place one person's planets and other points in the inner ring of the bi-wheel, while the other person's placements are in the outer ring. This allows astrologers to easily look at the planets, houses, and aspects between their charts. Once you have your synastry chart, you'll want to compare the planets, houses, and aspects between your two charts. This will give you direct insight into how you and your partner communicate romantically. Interested in learning more about how to break down your synastry chart? Check out the following sections for more information about the best houses, planets, and aspects in synastry. What are the most important planets in synastry? The most important planets and luminaries in romantic compatibility and synastry are the Moon, Venus, and Mars placements. Traditional astrologers have always looked to these three placements to pinpoint the romantic compatibility between two people. Here's an example of how the planetary synastry between my chart and my husband's chart looks: The Moon – Planet of Emotion & Feeling Your Moon Sign represents your inner self and emotions. It's often referred to as your hidden personality. It heavily influences your interpersonal relationships, as well as how you intuitively see the world around you. And like the dark side of the actual moon, your moon sign is a part of your personality you typically keep hidden from others. Venus – Planet of Attraction & Romance Venus is the planet of romance and influences all things romance, beauty, and pleasures (especially shared with others). Anything dealing with long-term partnerships, marriage, and romance can find its influence in Venus. By looking at what sign falls into your Venus, you can find what type of romantic partner you are, as well as the type of person you attract. Mars – Planet of Desire & Ambition Mars is a planet of action that influences our passions, drive, determination, and more. It fuels our confidence, as well as our confrontational natures. While Mars can show us what brings us excitement, it can also show us what gets under our skin, as well as how we argue and approach disagreements. DID YOU KNOW? Some astrologers have extended this comparison to include all Big 6 placements (Sun, Moon, Ascendant, Mercury, Venus, and Mars) to give extra insight into how you like to be romanced, your flirting style, and more. Which houses are the most important for synastry? The houses in astrology act as the home base for the planets and luminaries in your chart. The presence or absence of planets within certain houses can give deeper insights into your motivations, challenges, and successes in life. In synastry analysis, comparing the dynamics of the houses between two charts can show you much more about what a long-term partnership would look like. For romance, planets in the 1st, 5th, 7th, and 8th houses are the most important to pay attention to because these houses possess a relationship theme. If some of your planets fall in the 1st, 5th, 7th, or 8th house of your partner's chart or vice versa, this can indicate a deep sense of intimacy, knowledge, and understanding of each other. If you've ever met someone and had an instant spark or connection there's a chance you were experiencing this phenomenon. 1st house synastry The 1st house begins the Zodiac and is probably the most important house of the natal chart because it rules self-identity. The planets within this house indicate our core essence of how we perceive ourselves, as well as the way others perceive us. This is especially important when it comes to romantic attraction. When planets occupy the first house of another person's chart, it points to a strong attraction between the two people. It can also mean there is a natural physical attraction or personality match. 5th house synastry The 5th house can influence many things, such as: how you like to be romanced, the kind of things that bring you joy, and how you like to unwind and be playful. This is different from 1st house rulership which governs self-identity. Your 1st house tells you how you see yourself, your 5th house tells you how you express yourself. If one or both partners have planets in the 5th house, there's an indication of a strong bond of friendship and taste. It's likely both people will enjoy similar hobbies, music, movies, as well as have similar dislikes. It goes without explaining why this is important in a relationship! 7th house synastry The 7th house rules over all aspects of your interpersonal life both romantic and otherwise. Planets in the 7th house tend to be focused on building long-term relationships and partnerships in life. The 7th house can also influence things such as: what you value in a romantic partner, your potential business aspirations, and how you define your sense of justice. This house is extremely important in marriage. When one person's planets (Moon & Venus especially) occupy the 7th house of their partner's chart, a successful marriage is likely. 8th house synastry The 8th house rules over things like birth, death, sex, and transformation. Planets in the 8th house find themselves drawn to the unknown and will often reinvent themselves several times throughout their life. The 8th house can influence many things, such as: how you process and handle intense emotions, which compulsions or secret desires you have, and what makes you feel attractive to yourself and others. When one person's planets occupy the 8th house of their partner's chart, there is a strong sexual attraction and chemistry. There is a downside to the 8th house, however. If one or both partners have too many planets in each other's 8th house it can indicate dangerous obsession, controlling tendencies, or jealousy. What are the most important aspects of synastry? In synastry, your combined aspects will show you a lot about your energies as a couple. In the same way, aspects can show you points of ease and hardship in your own chart, synastry aspects can do the same for your next relationship. Here's an example of how your synastry chart aspects might look using my husband and mine's synastry chart: There are five major aspects of astrology (conjunction, sextile, square, trine, and opposition). Of the five major aspects, some are considered hard aspects to deal with (opposition and square), while other aspects are more favorable or auspicious (sextile and trine). Conjunction aspects are generally neutral and will be majorly influenced by the other influences of your chart. Conjunction A conjunction is the most powerful aspect in synastry and depending on the planets involved, can produce a harmonious relationship or cause major points of conflict. Conjunction happens when planets are within 0° of separation of each other. Visually, this will look like the planets are directly next to each other on the synastry wheel. This aspect brings a blended and intensified energy; the nature of that energy is usually decided by how harmonious the conjunct planets are with each other. The closer two planets are to conjunction, the more subtle these combined energies become. But beware – too many conjunctions between charts can create tension because the people involved are too alike. When three or more planets are conjunct with each other in the same house, this aspect is called a stellium. Trine A trine is the most positive aspect of synastry. A trine occurs when planets in the same element (fire, earth, air, and water) aspect each other (within 120° of separation). This aspect represents an easy flow of communication and ideas. Don't get too comfortable, though! The clear compatibility of this aspect contains the risk of boredom and repetition. This can pose a huge issue for aspects that contain air or fire placements that tend to crave freedom and mobility. Here's a quick refresher on which signs trine to each other: Fire: Aries, Leo, SagittariusEarth: Taurus, Virgo, CapricornAir: Gemini, Libra, AquariusWater: Cancer, Scorpio, PiscesSextile Sextile aspects are the most easy-going aspect of synastry. Aspects that are sextile to each other occur when planets are within 60° of separation. These configurations usually occur between signs of opposing but complementary energy (Fire and Air signs, and Earth and Water signs), which helps reduce the risk of boredom or feeling routine. This makes sextile aspects in synastry more stimulating than trine aspects because the two signs involved are in different elements. Signs that are sextile yours may also be a favorable match. These signs are two signs apart and fall under a compatible element. Fire and Air signs have a natural attraction, while Water and Earth signs always seem to find each other. Here's an easy guide on which signs you're sextile to based on your sign: Aries: Gemini, AquariusTaurus: Cancer, PiscesGemini: Aries, LeoCancer: Taurus, VirgoLeo: Gemini, LibraVirgo: Cancer, ScorpioLibra: Leo, SagittariusScorpio: Virgo, CapricornSagittarius: Libra, AquariusCapricorn: Scorpio, PiscesAquarius: Aries, SagittariusPisces: Taurus, Capricorn Square Square aspects highlight major points of conflict that can create stress and tension in relationships. This aspect represents challenging energies that can cause blocks in life. Square aspects happen when planets are within 90° of separation. These aspects don't necessarily spell doom, however, because they also show areas for potential growth. A square aspect is likely to produce tension between the involved planets' energies but they can also provide a clear path for areas of growth. Here's a guide on which signs are square one another: Aries: Cancer, CapricornTaurus: Leo, AquariusGemini: Virgo, PiscesCancer: Aries, LibraLeo: Scorpio, TaurusVirgo: Gemini, SagittariusLibra: Cancer, CapricornScorpio: Leo, AquariusSagittarius: Virgo, PiscesCapricorn: Aries, LibraAquarius: Taurus, ScorpioPisces: Gemini, Sagittarius Opposition Opposition aspects cause drama, growth, passion, and sometimes pain in relationships. There's no way around it, planets in opposition are going to butt heads. Opposition happens when planets are within 180° of separation. Astrological speaking – the zodiac signs in each opposition are a pair of signs that share the same modality and are congenial elements (also known as Sister Signs!). For some people, opposition aspects can replicate the sensation of finding your twin flame or even meeting someone from a past life. This tension comes from the fact that these planets are as far away from each other on the natal wheel as possible, meaning their opposing energies make them feel at odds with each other. The energy in this aspect shows a pull and push between two or more planets. Here's a guide on which signs are opposite one another: Aries and LibraTaurus and Scorpio Gemini and Sagittarius Cancer and Capricorn Leo and Aquarius Virgo and Pisces Interested in learning more?
